ON THE DUKE'S HIGHWAY

By CURRAN R GREENLEY

(Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.)

The white highway wound among the lindens unendingly, to Spottswoode Dering's impatient eyes—too much like a toy road in a toy forest for a big plainsman accustomed to sweep of the desert reaches. The giant machine purred contentedly under the tremendous speed at which he was forcing her along, when suddenly in the path stood a girl, and Dering threw in the clutch barely in time. With hardly a pause for the car to come to a standstill, she was in the seat beside him, the child in her arms, and her eyes urging him more than the frantic whisper—"Drive! Drive! They are close behind me and a minute may cost his little life!"

Who "they" were, and why it was necessary to save "him" was left to Dering's imagination, while she stilled the child's petulant cry. Then she asked:

"Have you a woman's coat—anything that will cover me?"

Mrs. Jimmie had cautioned him to take exceeding care of her new motor garb—a fearful and wonderful assemblage of leather and linen, but he paid up like a gentleman.

"You will find the whole outfit back there in the tonneau, and you might smuggle the little chap down among the rugs. Just toss them up a trifle, and he is so little that he will never be noticed. This passport will serve for you for both of us."

He produced Jimmie Montjoy's passports from the pocket of Jimmie's motor coat. Mrs. Jimmie, too, had blond hair and brown eyes, and the difference in height would not be noticed. Dering was plunging head over ears into the affair without the faintest notion of the reason thereof. He had wished for an adventure—something that would fill in Mrs. Jimmie's too many idle moments, and here it was to hand. That Mrs. Jimmie was absent did not spoil sport.

"Are You Wife or Widow?"

As they approached the barrier, he glanced around.

"Come up here," he said, settling her comfortably beside him. "Now act up. You want everything that cannot possibly be had. You want to know if your friends have passed and how many hours ahead—I will supply the rest of the jargon."

Duly impressed, the guard gave full particulars of the party who had gone through. Dering chuckled. Mrs. Jimmie's pet aversion was that big green car, and all it contained; but for once the Fitz-Jones outfit were friends in need—anyhow, he owed Mrs. Jimmie one for slipping off to Monte Carlo with Jimmie, and leaving him to bring the car through. If he felt any qualms on the score of the young woman who seemed bent upon getting away from her natural guardians, he failed to note them. Doubtless she had a reason. As for kidnaping the child—if she wanted the child, well, she ought to have him—that was Dering's philosophy.

It came upon him like an earthquake, when a few hours later he scanned the headlines while they were waiting to go to the yacht. When he had finished the double-leaded article, he thanked the Gods-of-Things-That-Are for Jimmie's yacht and for all things of Jimmie's that had aided him in that day's adventure, for in that small dukedom of Herzorania, whose linden forest had seemed so much of a toy forest, had occurred one of those sudden revolutions that belong to toy dukedoms, whereupon the ins are out, and the outs are in.

Franz Wilhelm had been declared duke, and the little Duke Friedrich, now deposed, had disappeared in the melee when the palace guards were rushed. The regent, now a prisoner, knew nothing of him. That was proven beyond doubt. There was no trace of the child other than the fact that the Countess Amadie Von Schwarzwald had also disappeared. The fondness between the two was well known, and it was thought if the countess could be found the little duke would not be far away. For reasons of state it was necessary that he be found and placed under strict supervision.

"Strict supervision!" Dering fumed. She was standing a little behind him, reading over his shoulder and the brown eyes were blazing. "They would have murdered a baby and termed it 'reasons of state!' I know Franz Wilhelm and his policies!"

Dering was regarding her in blank amazement. "Do you mean to say you are—he is?"

"He is the Duke of Herzorania, but Franz Wilhelm has stolen his throne. Now he is only a little child whose life is hunted. You will help me to take him to America?"

Dering promised recklessly. Her eyes were so appealing, and, too, the poor duke touched a soft spot in the heart of the big westerner, as he thought of that other little prince who had paid the debt of royalty in this sunny, frivolous land of France.

"Fraulein, I—"

"Frau!" she corrected.

Dering grasped for his bearings; but the plain gold ring was there on the hand held out to him, and he came down to earth with a thud, the zest all gone from his romance.

Mrs. Jimmie's telegram was handed to him as he came up the gangway. She wanted the yacht brought round to Monte Carlo. Dering was relieved. It was only a matter of a few hours, and Mrs. Jimmie would take the situation in hand and his part of the game would be played.

Mrs. Jimmie arrived in a flutter. There was a strained ten minutes while Dering made his speech, and then Mrs. Jimmie rose to the bait. She smothered Amadie in her laces and wanted to wake up the child that minute—the poor baby who slept uncaring that fate had reduced him from a reigning duke to a waif of No-man's-Land. She was in the seventh heaven, for she had cornered the big sensation of the season, and with a beautiful disregard of extradition laws, or ugly legal complications anent kidnaping, was preparing to make Newport sit up and wonder, when Amadie brought her down to earth with the brutal truth.

Dering saw little of the girl—she was shy and made the child her excuse, and the Jimmie Montjoys went mauldin over the child. They wanted him for their own. In very truth, the great country house up the Hudson was a fitter palace than that of the ruler of Herzorania, but Amadie would not consent. They could have him for a time, until Franz Wilhelm should grow tired of the search, but he would not be far away. It was better for the child to be with strangers at first.

They were going up to quarantine, when at last Dering found her alone. He had settled it with himself on the way over that there should be no more evasions. In spite of reason, queer little visions of Amadie, out there in the big lonesome country, the world of desert and sky, and they two together, together always—were beginning to fill his thoughts, until it became obsession. He must know the truth, for a doubt had grown steadily, as the days went, and there was never a mention of the Count Von Schwarzwald.

He had tried to get the truth from Mrs. Jimmie, but she either played innocent, or did not know—he doubted that last, knowing Mrs. Jimmie.

He laid his hand on hers where she stood watching the green water foam away from the bow. "Are you ready to tell me your story? I have waited, but you have made no sign."

She met his glance steadily.

"I mean" he came closer, looking deep into the brown pools of her eyes "are you free to listen? Are you wife or widow?"

Her eyes fell, but she laughed. "Is this the American method? It is no secret in Herzorania, that Emil Von Schwarzwald died the day of our wedding, and I—No! No! Not yet!"

But the words were smothered against the rough tweed of Dering's shoulder, and Mrs. Jimmie stole away from the sheltered corner where she, too, had watched the waves against the bow. The question of Amadie was settled, and Jimmie could order that pearl rope as soon as he pleased—sooner, for Mrs. Jimmie was a good collector of winnings.

SEEMS ALMOST A MIRACLE

Japanese Method of Restoring Consciousness Is Something of a Puzzle to the Scientists.

An English scientist, Prof. A. Abrams, has recently been making a special study of the semi-miraculous restoration to life practiced by the Japanese, and while he does not fully explain why the men come back to life after being to all intents dead, he does tell how it is done, and this in itself is interesting. In jiu jitsu if a man is knocked out, beaten senseless, killed, or otherwise mauled, and if a man has been killed by a sunstroke or by drowning, the restorer rolls the patient on his face and extends his arms sidewise. Then he strikes the patient on the seventh cervical vertebra with his wrist, severely and regularly, until the patient recovers consciousness. Immediately he is placed in a sitting posture, his arms rotated, and he is aided in walking, for otherwise he relapses into unconsciousness immediately and in some cases dies at once.

This system of pounding the seventh vertebra has been found peculiarly beneficial in some acute heart diseases, and the effects of the treatment under Japanese manipulation seem almost miraculous at times. As yet there seems to be no clear medical explanation of the effects of pounding the seventh vertebra, but the genuineness of the cures and resuscitations frequently described by travelers is now scientifically established by Professor Abrams' investigations.

CAP and BELLS

FOUNDATION FOR HIS NOVEL

Writer Wishing to Undergo Pangs of Rejected Lover Proposes to Eleven Young Women.

"Pardon my abruptness, Miss Cltroncliu, but will you marry me?"

"Marry you, Mr. Bonser? Marry you? Not if you were the last man on earth!"

Pondering a moment, he took a small memorandum book out of his pocket and checked off a name.

"Well," he said, "there's no harm done. It is due you, however, Miss Higgins, that I should explain. You have heard, I presume, of the Great American Novel, but have not seen it, because it has not yet appeared. I am about to write it. But in order to fit myself for the task I need one or two experiences. I wish to undergo the pangs of a rejected lover. I have not yet succeeded and you are the eleventh. I may have to be rejected by a half a dozen more girls before I experience the necessary motion. Good evening, Miss Higgins."

Hard for the Funny Man.

"I see they've got a machine for sewing on buttons now," said the humorist's wife.

"That's just my luck," said the humorist; "the first thing you know somebody will invent a machine for finding lost collar buttons, and my business will be ruined."—Yonkers Statesman.

He'll Suffer.

"The Willowbys have a new touring car."

"I dare say that's good news for their friends."

"Perhaps; but bad news for their tailor."

HER EYES FLASHED.

"Mrs. Oldun, I hope you and your husband live happily together."

"Mrs. Stronginhid. I should say we do. I'd just like to see him live unhappily with me!"

Genius.

"I think our son is going to be an inventive genius."

"Why?"

"He has found out how to take off his clothes at night without separating them so that he will have to put on one garment at a time when he dresses in the morning."

Mutual.

"Bridget," said Mrs. Grouchey, "I don't like the looks of that man who called to see you last night."

"Well, well," replied Bridget, "ain't it funny, ma'am? He said the same about you."—Catholic Standard and Times.

On the Hill.

"Say, what are you kids keeping a guard at the foot of the hill for?"

"Oh, them's to keep the way clear for our sleds."

"I see. They're your coast defenses."

Strange.

"Yes, she is nice, but she is very unwomanly."

"Why, how can you say that?"

"She got a package marked 'Not to be opened until Christmas' and she has not opened it."

A Girl's Troubles.

"Woman's is a hard lot."

"How now?"

"I was trying so hard to dress mannishly and then they brought out the hobble skirt."

Expert Opinion.

"No doubt, the colonel was right."

"Yes?"

"He said there was ten times as much uplift in a mint julep as there was in a bottle of soda pop."

IS BEST TO BE TRUTHFUL

Certain Cleveland Drummer Decides That Lying Doesn't Pay in His Business.

"In the long run in my business at any rate," remarked a Cleveland traveling man, "it seems to be just as well to tell the truth. I never forgot an incident of my first trip on the road. One of the first towns I made was Franklin, down in the southern part of this state. It was marked on the map and on the folder in fairly good-sized type, and I took it for granted that Franklin was a good deal of a place.

"So I walked up the street till I came to a dry good store—dry goods being my line then—and I engaged the proprietor in conversation.

"'Mr. Smith,' I began, 'there is another party here in town that's extremely anxious to get hold of our line, but I've heard of you as being a thoroughly enterprising merchant and I'm going to give you a chance to take on these goods if you're interested. You shall have first choice, and if your order is one that will justify selling to you exclusively in this city, I shall not go to see your competitor at all.'

"Throughout all this talk that I was giving him, he kept looking at me in a funny way, but without any particular change of expression.

"'You say my competitor is anxious to take on the line,' he asked me at last.

"'Yes, indeed, he's been writing in and trying his best to tie up with us.'

"'Then,' replied my prospective customer, 'you'd better go and talk to him. And, by the way, when you find him I wish you'd come back here and let me know where his place is. I was under the impression until now that there wasn't any other dry goods store in town.'"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Too Many Mrs. Caudles.

The policeman said that if anybody should ask him he would say that about the best thing anybody could do under the circumstances was to go home. But the midnight wayfarer of uncertain steps and speech thought otherwise.

"You wouldn't go, either," he said, "if there were six more waiting to hand out the same line of sass that I took once tonight when I tried to sneak in. Yes, sir, six of 'em."

"Six what?" the policeman asked.

"Wives."

"Good heavens," ejaculated the policeman, "who are you anyhow? Brigham Young?"

"No, sir, I ain't old man Young, but there are six more there all right. Come upstairs and see for yourself."

The policeman tiptoed up behind him and assisted in opening the door. In a room beyond a light burned dimly revealing six blonde heads standing in a row on a dressing table.

"What'd I tell you?" said the man. "Six, all alike and only one heard from."

The policeman pushed him in and shut the door.

"Six transformations on dummy heads," he said. "Poor devil, no wonder he had 'em."

Wildcat in a City Park.

A giant wildcat that had been slaughtering quail and cottontail rabbits in the Golden Gate park for the last three years was trapped recently by George J. Barron. The park gamekeepers and others often caught sight of the destructive beast, but it was so wily that they never could get an opportunity of drawing a bead on it. The great cat was thought to come from the Santa Cruz mountains.

The other day the lad rigged up a plain box trap and baited it with a piece of fresh beef, setting the contrivance in the shrubbery near the chain of lakes. He returned several hours later and found the big cat snarling in the trap.

Prof. William G. Blunt, curator of the natural history department of the museum, was sent for, and after a close examination of the beast at a safe distance pronounced it a fine specimen of the hybrid wildcat of California. As hybrids of all kinds in the class of mammals are barred from the museum, the cat was killed and buried ta the foot of a Monterey cypress. The animal weighed 40 pounds, and was one of the largest specimens that the professor had ever seen.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Census in England.

In England a census is taken every seven years. In the United States the work costs some $5,000,000; in England, with a population of 42,000,000, the work is done by the regular public officials, without extra cost. There the census is taken on a certain day at a certain hour, usually Saturday at 11 p. m., because most people are then at home. Printed circulars have been sent by the police to every family and to the owners of all lodgings and hotels. These circulars contain blanks, which must be filled.

The Clocks of France.

The clocks of France are to be set back nine minutes, and, according to the law of the land just adopted, in the future they are to count off the hours and the days, second for second, with the clocks marking Greenwich time in England. Paris lies to the east of the meridian 9 minutes 20.9 seconds, and she has always held independently to her astronomical difference. By a law passed in 1891 the time of Paris was made the legal hour for all of France, although the town of Brest, far to the west, has a difference of twenty-seven minutes.

Wolf(e)! Wolf(e)!

The Wolf(e) has come! The Wolf(e) has come!

Richmond people do not favor consolidation with San Francisco; it is only non-resident salesmen of Richmond real estate who would talk for the Richmond people; our city is free from the burdens of municipal bonds and our tax rate is very low. San Francisco has not shown her ability to govern herself without some world-wide scandal. Deliver us from wolves and ravenous "varmints."

There is actually a "he" Wolf(e) in the California Legislature, uncaged, a good subject for some human menagerie, who would gobble all the desirable east bay cities to carve a city twice as populous as Los Angeles and make of San Francisco the great California port for oriental and Panama trade. To consolidate would be in the nature of a comedy as such action would lead to no political or commercial advantage and would destroy the autonomy of the cities east of San Francisco bay, a barrier that would arrest east bay progress, and "the Wolf(e) may come and the Wolf(e) may go, but Richmond goes on forever!"

STAR ENTERTAINMENT LINCOLN-NEVADANS

HON. C. S. YOUNG, HOST

Under the caption: "Ex-State Official of Nevada Entertains," a leading western magazine of Los Angeles, "The Graphic," has this to say of the Lincoln-Nevada night given by Hon. Charles S. Young at his Los Angeles bachelor quarters at Hotel Touraine:

"That was a unique and exceedingly interesting Lincoln-Nevada night which former Nevadans enjoyed Monday evening in the handsome apartments of Hon. Charles Sumner Young, one time official of Nevada, at Hotel Touraine, on South Hope street. The bachelor quarters were beautifully decorated for the occasion. Old Glory was suspended in folds over the entrance, and in numerous places within. Also several pictures of Lincoln, one recently painted on skin; and similarly painted for the occasion were pictures of the Presidents and their homes, pictures of the state capitols and the figurative girls representative of the states; pictures of a score of missions, one side of a room devoted to President Diaz and Mexican views, gathered by Mr. Young while in Mexico; in all a thousand more pictures of authors, poets, musicians-sculptures, paintings and other works of art that are world famous—a typical bachelor's den of the literary inclined. Eulogies of Lincoln were induldeed in through eloquent set speeches and in an informal way by the guests. Refreshments were served and attendants provided for under the management of the University Club, of which Mr. Young is a member. About a year ago the host was endorsed for the Mexican ambassadorship by United States senators, governors and numerous congrsssmen representing more than one-half of the states of the Union; by college presidents, justices of supreme supreme courts, bishops and others of great prominence, likewise with assurance that he would be persona grata at the court of Mexico. Among those present were: Former U. S. Senator John P. Jones, "Tom" Fitch, the silver-tongued orator and ex-congressman of Nevada; Hon. John M. Dormer, formerly secretary of state of Nevada; Hon. Charles M. Fassett, formerly an assemblyman of Nevada and present president of the Chamber of Chamber of Commerce of Spokane; Hon. Charles H. Bicknell, former clerk of the supreme court, Nevada; Gen. Charles Forman, ex Senator Alex McCone, Hon. Henry T. Gage, United States Minister to Portugal; Prof. James A. Foshay, ex-Governor J. J. Gosper, Gen. H. A. Pierce, Prof. G. E. Bailey, Roy Jones, W. E. Lester, Charles Forman, Jr., A. C. Hamilton, Frank Fielding, Richard Mercer, J. L. Stevenson, Charles Lyke, H. M. Gorham, James McAllister, Frank McAllister, A. Minter S. L. Jones, Carl F. Rosencrons, George H. Kuhrts, Judge W. E. Winnie, J. J. Thomas, J. W. Hicks, W. F. Ford, Clyde Jackson, M. J. Curtiss, James Murray, M. M. Gillespie, Dr. Herbert F. True, Col. Frank H. True and Edward G. Gove.—The Graphic, Los Angeles.

Hon. Charles S. Young is the owner of the Terminal and his paper has contributed very materially to the progress of Richmond, works clean politics. He has amassed a considerable fortune in oil and the values for his estates increase every day. Mr. Young has done much for California, and once secured for "Lucky" Baldwin a loan of $1,500,000. He is very popular.

Richmond is making preparations for the Panama Pacific International Exposition.

In the last few months a once peddler walks along the streets and talks to the local dealers as if he was boss. He do speaka de broken English lil bit. Is this the fault of the local merchant?

In Wisconsin there is sold genuine pig meat sausage which, laid down in San Francisco costs 25c a can and the San Francisco merchant immediately jumps the price to 45c a can; whose fault is it?

NOT HIS FAULT.

It is not all the fault of the merchant that he may not at times sell as low as Oakland, thus creating a business for the parcels express a big load arriving at Kinggett's today, that represented money going out of town. The Tennessee Store undertook to sell vegetables and necessaries of life at easier prices; did a big business but was informed that if he did not sell higher he would not get the goods. Mr. Thompson will tell you, gentle reader. Is it his fault?

IT SOUNDS GOOD.

J. L. Durivage and F. W. Tucker, pioneers in real estate, are associated in business at 1804 Macdonald avenue at the subway under the name of the Home Realty Company. The Santa Fe [illegible] changes [illegible] service

Oakland & East Side Ry.

(A., T. & S. F. Ry. COAST LINES)

[illegible]

KEY ROUTE ON RICHMOND BOULEVARD

The Santa Fe [illegible] cars between Richmond and Oakland are a complete success. Passengers are carried speedily between regular train service. Richmond [illegible] the main station and regular stops are made at Richmond Avenue, Sixth Street, and Wall Street near Pullman shops

East Shore & Suburban Ry

—Electric cars. Local service.—

The electric cars give service equal to any modern American city, cars to all parts of the city, transfers at the main junction at Macdonald Avenue and Sixth St., also at Macdonald Ave. and Twenty-Third. Fare from Broadway and Seventh, Oakland to Richmond, 10c; to Pt. Richmond, 15c.

Richmond Belt Railway

The Belt Line connects Richmond with the commerce of the world through the oceanic and inland shipping with Richmond as a distributing center—via great overland railroads, the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe, which, by traffic arrangements, control the Belt and its wharves, each assuming separate management every alternate year. The largest vessels afloat discharge and take on cargo and meet the Terminal overland railroads, here at deeper water than at San Francisco. The Belt Line also carries factory, warehouse, wharf and other employes, twice daily, via East Shore & Suburban electric cars to and from their homes in Richmond.

TOWN TALK

Subscribe for the TERMINAL.

Richmond is the healthiest city on the Pacific Coast.

The Richmond Saengerbund has organized with H. Heinreich as leader.

Be Johnny Wise. Don't do anything that will check building progress.

Contractor G. A. Follett is building a residence in farther East Richmond.

Hon. Levi Boswell strongly favored the purchase of Cerrito hill by the city.

L. Shnider is doing a splendid furniture trade on Macdonald-ave., west of the subway.

If the city purchases Cerrito hill for a park this would give the east side three parks.

Two more Santa Fe locals trains now stop at Sixth Street station on the Oakland & East Side Railway.

Postmaster Glass has recovered from a successful surgical operation at Abbott Hospital and returned to Martinez.

The little germs will get no respite from the garbage man—for the property owners must pay for hauling their own garbage after March 1.

The firemen of Richmond Fire Department No. 6, just organized gave a very brilliant social dance for one hundred and twenty couples at East Shore Park Tuesday evening, the day before the birthday of the man who cut the cherry tree with the hatchet and raised several hundred dollars for the firemen's assets. The boys looked proud in their new badges.

NEW ENGLAND PARTY

The corner of Nevin avenue and Eighth st. at the beautiful Philpott home was the scene of the leading social function of the budding season, a church benefit being the motif, and Washington's birthday the time.

The portraits of George and Martha Washington were bedecked with flags and bunting in varied design. The hostesses impersonated in colonial costumes fetched to reality early New England life.

The games and guessing contests were conducted with grace. The hostess had prepared elegant refreshments. An entertaining program was as follows:

Miss Lorraine Brown, piano solo.
Miss Vera Wyatt, piano solo.
Miss Lorraine Brown, piano solo.
Mrs. Charles Adams, reading.
Mrs. O. C. Staley, piano solo.
Miss Lorraine Brown, piano solo.
Mr. Edward Smith, recital.
Mr. F. S. Newman, reading.
Miss Gladys Snyder, reading.
Mr. H. Zion, vocal solo.
Miss Ivy Lee, reading.

CURRENT GOSSIP.

Those who left Richmond are coming back.

If you would have a permanent business, "hit the center."

Richmond has industry all around and business in the middle.

Everything in Ladies' wear at Philpott Dry Goods Co.

It is reported the Knights of Pythias may soon build on their site.

The opera house will probable be erected on the Third-st. corner on two lots.

Trade at home. Keep your money within the city's circulation, and don't take in bad money.

Macdonald Avenue much resembles Broadway, Oakland, or Market street, San Francisco.

Frank Thole & Son, real estate brokers sold the corner of Twenty-Second-st and Macdonald avenue for a 40 room hotel.

In gentlemen's nobby and serviceable wear, Linville Bros. & Co. are leaders. Nothing shoddy, and no old goods.

Richmond Industrial Commission's boosting the undeveloped margins helps the busy growing center of "The Baby Pittsburg."

When at Richmond post office it is only a few steps to Rhoads, the tailor at Barrett avenue and Sixth street. The best service for the money. It will pay to call and see him.

Mrs Katharine Smith, knocked a good persimmon for Richmond at the meeting of the Woman's Federated clubs at Stockton. She secured the state meeting for Richmond next year.

G. W. Williams of Watsonville has sold his property there and will buy Richmond holdings in the beautiful triangle and settle with his family. Mr. Williams erected one of the first homes at Pt. Richmond.

Point Richmond seems to have expanded up on Macdonald-ave. as is shown by changes of merchants and professional men following the great trade center eastward to Sixth street and Macdonald avenue.

Herbert Repsold, the american "jackie" who went wrong, son of a millionare and lover of Miss Margaret Raab of Pt. Richmond, was sentenced to fifteen years at San Quentin penitentiary. "With all his faults" Miss Raab "loves him still."

TURN TOES TO DAISIES.

Many valuable canines have tripped each their ten toes to the daisies, taking their departure with symptoms of strychnine poisoning, with the characteristic post mortem pose of ophisthotonos accompanied by risus sardonicus. Some twenty dogs, some of them valued pets, crossed the River Styx to that bourne whence no doggie returns, victims of some dog hater.

PYTHIAN SISTERS.

The Pythian Sisters gave a delightful Washington's birthday reception and "toikey" banquet at Bank hall Wednesday evening with the Knights also in evidence.

White and green were the decorations symbolized in green foliage and calla lily; a suggestion of truth in little hatchets; a thrill of patriotism in flag display, all in true colonial spirit. Mrs. W. J. Steele, Mrs. A. J Timmons and Mrs M. Blankenship banqueted the guests.

One of the cleverest violinists in the United States, Master Leo Murphy, the son of the proprietor of the Golden West Hotel, and accomplished artist of the resin and the bow created no little surprise with his wonderful mastery.

Mrs. F. E. Adams eloquently recited "The Sioux Chief's Daughter and responded in original comedy.

Among others on the program were Miss Irene Lucas, A. Langrish, Miss Frances Murphy, Mrs. J. O. Ford, Mrs. H. H. Turley and C. A. Clark.

INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION

Brings Buyers to Down Town Center

Richmond Industrial Commission is expending about $700 a month in advertising the wonderful growth of Richmond in magazines. Each member has a commercial interest in Richmond and although a majority of its members are non-residents of the "Baby Pittsburg" they take an interest in Richmond's affairs. When you read a boost in any of big dailies of the big cities, it is the work of the commission's press work. In addition to the $5,000,000 state tax secured largely by the influence of the California Press Association to pay for California's Panama-Pacific advertising for 1915, the Richmond Commission will endeavor to secure through the influence of various commercial organizations the passage at this session of the legislature of Bill 1009 for an additional appropriation for advertising—a few hundred thousand, which would not be felt by the taxpayers of California to a great extent, as it benefits the whole state. Richmond advertising by the commission so far has increased the demand for property around the rapidly developing down town center in all directions from Sixth-st. and Macdonald ave. So far the commission has not yielded for themselves adequate returns as most of the investors buy down-town holdings and every favorable dispatch brings buyers, and owners of Richmond outside property are selling to re-invest in the triangle on the gridiron. The commission is willing unselfishly to make this sacrifice and the Terminal wishes the industrial body continued success in the development of the great center between the depots, and trust the proposed appropriation by the legislature will receive the attention which its merits demand.

TACT SHOWN BY YOUNG MAN

Instead of Making His Best Girl Furiously Angry He Made Big Hit.

The man who was having his picture taken in the photograph gallery was an innocent listener to this conversation between two young ladies on the other side of the screen:

"You know, Kate, I sometimes wear a long curl hanging down the back of my neck?"

"Yes."

"Well, when Phil was calling on me the other evening, he asked me if he might have that curl, and I jokingly said yes. Before I knew what he was about he had taken a little pair of scissors out of his pocket and clipped it off, close to my head."

"Why, the idea! Didn't that make you furious?"

"Not for the smallest fraction of a second. I thought it was splendid of him that he didn't seize it and pull it off."—Youth's Companion.

A Slip of Language.

The audience at the last Edinburgh university concert was astounded when Professor Niecks, who has been professor of music in Edinburgh university for nearly 20 years, addressed them in German. When he had finished a little speech, unintelligible to most of his hearers, some one told him what he had done, whereupon he laughed heartily and repeated his address in English. The explanation of his unconscious lapse into his native tongue was that one of the performers at the concert had spoken to him in German a moment before.—Glasgow Herald.

BRIGHTENING A DARK ROOM

Dark Woodwork Should Not Be Tolerated and Gloomy Paper Should Be Avoided.

In nearly every city house there is always sure to be one dark and gloomy room. It casts its depression upon all who enter it, and yet one is often at a loss as to what should be done to dissipate the lugubrious effect.

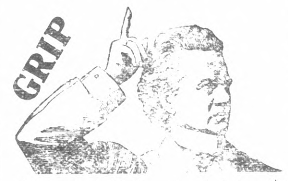

It should be dealt with ruthlessly. White paint and enamel should be used with a generous hand. Dark woodwork should not be tolerated, and dull or gloomy paper should be avoided. Hang the room in a paper of suny yellow hues, put up only curtains of thin net, and decorate your walls with pictures framed in white and gold and silver gray frames.

Many mirrors, if possible, should be used, for they aid wonderfully in brightening a dark room, but they must not be hung too high, as they will only reflect the ceiling, while they should catch the cheerful flame of an open fire and repeat its gleam.

No one thing is more successful in destroying the depressing atmosphere of a room than an inside window box. This box can be made attractive by a thin covering of brass or copper that will add to the brightness of the room, and the plants should be chosen with an eye to their color.

When the furniture in your dark and depressing room has been covered with a gay cretonne and magazines, books and papers have been strewn about, this room, which filled every one with a feeling of aversion and discomfort, will become the favorite resort of the family.

Kow-Kure is not a "food"—it is a medicine, and the only medicine in the world for cows only. Made for the cow and, as its name indicates, a cow cure. Barrenness, retained afterbirth, abortion, scours, caked udder, and all similar affections positively and quickly cured. No one who keeps cows, whether many or few, can afford to be without "Kow-Kure." It is made especially to keep cows healthy. Our book "What to Do When Your Cows Are Sick" sent free. Ask your local dealer for "Kow-Kure," or send to the manufacturers. Dairy Association Co., Lyndonville, Vt.

PISO'S IS THE NAME OF THE BEST MEDICINE for COUGHS & COLDS

Does Not Color Hair

Ayer's Hair Vigor, as now made from our new improved formula, does not stain or color the hair even to the slightest degree. Gray hair, white hair, blonde hair is not made a shade darker. But it certainly does stop falling hair. No question about that.

Does not change the color of the hair.

Formula with each bottle. Ayer's. Show it to your doctor. Ask him about it, then do as he says.

Indeed, we believe it will stop every case of falling hair unless there is some very unusual complication, something greatly affecting the general health. Then you should consult your physician. Also ask him about the new Ayer's Hair Vigor. —Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.—

In the Face of Pain.

Instances of bravery in the face of the most intense pain are of daily occurrence, but even in cases of difficult and tedious operations the attention paid to them is slight unless they are undergone as a result of self-sacrifice. A case where a friend sacrifices a few pieces of skin to be grafted on a victim of burns or scalds will be told of at length, while the man who suffers just as much pain from a broken leg is not considered worthy of mention. The man who lies gasping for breath with an attack of intercostal neuralgia is sometimes considered a laughable spectacle, but a strained and swollen wrist would gain him prompt sympathy and help. The amount of pain that is endured generally is not taken into consideration; the circumstances of the case form the basis for the opinions of the outsider.

To Remove Mildew.

If kid gloves have become spotted with mildew they should be placed in a bottle with a lump of ammonia about the size of a walnut; cork the bottle tightly and leave them for a short time, when the mildew spots will quite disappear. If left too long, however, the ammonia will rot the stitches; so they must be watched. An air-tight box will do equally well as a bottle.

"Leave a kiss within the cup and I'll not ask for wine," who'd ask for wine anyway, when the same effort will secure Old Gilt Edge Whiskey, either rye or bourbon.

She Knew.

Chief Joe Engleman, leader of the Miamis, was talking in Peru, Ind., about his tribe's claim against the government.

"We Miamis will never fall into the same trap twice," said, in the cultivated tones of a university man, the handsome chief. "We know from experience what to expect. We are like the beautiful girl who accepted the hand of her millionaire employer.

"'Yes, Clarence,' the girl said, patting the millionaire's scant gray hair, 'I will marry you, but I have one request to make.'

"'Name it, my love,' said the doting old man.

"'Let me select,' she replied, 'my successor at this desk.'"

Origin of Mugwump.

The word mugwump is derived from the Indian tongue. The Algonquin tribe had a word "mugquomp," which meant "chief" or "great man," and it was from this that we got our mugwump. The term was originally applied to any voter who was nominally identified with a particular party, but insisted on the right to vote with another party if he saw fit to do so. Generations ago it passed into the local phraseology of some of the New England villages, being applied there in its original (Indian) significance to any village magnate.

Ancients Were Bibulous.

The ancients were so fond of drink that their most popular god was Bacchus. Their feats in honor of Bacchus, Venus and Saturn were characterized by debaucheries from which the most advanced inebriates today would shrink in horror and disgust. The average gourmet of Athens or Rome ate and drank more in a single day than we do in a week.

Big Eagle Killed in Pennsylvania.

Doc McCarty of McConnell's Mills while hunting on the Fee farm, east of that place, Monday forenoon shot an eagle, the first that has been seen or shot in that vicinity in many years. The bird measured 7 feet 5 inches from the tips of its wings and weighed 13 pounds.—Philadelphia Record.

Abhor the Camera.

The Chinese have a horror of being pictured. They have the idea that the possession of the photograph of any individual gives the possessor some form of mystic power over that person.

Feathered Centenarian.

A crow shot in Germany bore on its leg a ring having a date over one hundred years ago.

ALL MEN ARE CREATED EGOS

Endowed by Creator With Certain Inalienable Somethings of Which Nothing Can Deprive Them.

An ego is a Latinized I. All men are created egos and endowed by their creator with certain inalienable somethings of which neither statute, ukase, edict, injunction, beggar, magnate, book agent nor promoter can deprive them. He who steals my purse steals trash, but he who filches from me my ego takes that of which he already has enough and makes me not at all.

Women without votes have egos, and, strangely enough, would still have them if they secured the votes. Hence egos are not a political issue.

An ego is what a man is when he has nothing and is nothing else; that is to say, he is then first person singular and no particular gender.

An ego is neither soul, body, spirit, family, country nor race. It is neither moral nor pathological. A criminal has just as much ego as a parson and no more. Some egos are better than others—chiefly our own.—Life.

In Virginia.

A few Sundays since, in a small school at Independence, Va., the subject was "The Wise and Foolish Virgins." One of the teachers asked the class the following question: "Which of the invited guests did not have their lamps trimmed and burning?" The one to respond was a pretty little girl. "Can you answer the question, Molly?" asked the teacher. "Oh, yes, sir," said the little girl, "it was the foolish Virginian."—National Monthly.

A Prophecy.

From my knowledge of the laws of electricity and from practical experiments already being made, I prophesy that the currents of air which have been agents of destruction to man will yet be harnessed for his benefit. In the future air will furnish heat, fuel and power and companies will be formed for utilizing it.

WHAT I WENT THROUGH

Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Natick, Mass.—"I cannot express what I went through during the change of life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold, I had creepy sensations, and I could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I also had a tumor. I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it had worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish my letter."—Mrs. NATHAN B. GREATON, 51 N. Main Street, Natick, Mass.

The change of life is the most critical period of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

Blessed Privilege.

"My cousin Carrie, out in the country, has asked me to go and spend a week or two with her," said Mrs. Lapsling, "and I'm going to do it. After you've been cooped up in a flat for six months there's nothing that does you so much good as to go out in the woods and rusticate a while."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

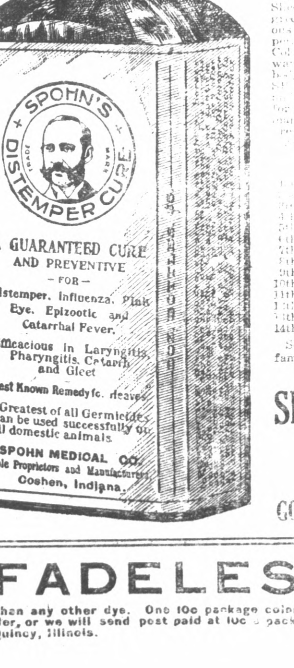

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system.

THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

"SPOHN'S"

As this very remarkable preparation is now called, is the Great Constitutional Remedy ever known for Brood Mares, Colts, Stallions and all other horses; also Distemper among Dogs and Sheep. This compound is made of the purest ingredients and not an atom of poisonous or injurious nature enters into its composition. Many persons are now using SPOHN'S for La Grippe, Colds, Coughs, Kidney Trouble, etc., and it is always safe. It expels the Disease Germs from the body, acts directly on the Blood and Glands. SPOHN'S is sold by nearly every druggist and harness dealer in the land, and any can get it for you, or send with remittance of price to the manufacturers, who will ship to your order, express paid. Fifty cents and $1.00 a bottle, and $5 and $10 the dozen.
